To Whom It May Concern:

Re: Eliran Penkar

It is a pleasure for me to provide Eliran with a letter of recommendation. I have had the honour over the past three years to get to know Eliran as a student in my Sports Medicine classes. I have found him to be friendly, patient and one who makes people feel comfortable to be around. He is an extremely competent individual who is always positive, energetic, organized and dependable. His endless energy and terrific attitude has made him a positive leader here at William Aberhart High School.

It is obvious that Eliran holds making a positive atmosphere and climate here at William Aberhart as one of his priorities. Eliran has achieved this goal by being a very active member of the sports medicine (athletic trainers) program here at William Aberhart. He put in countless hours of hard work as a student athletic trainer in support of our school teams and school population. Eliran continually demonstrates that his approach to any aspect of school is one of enthusiasm and goes far beyond the standard expectations of a student. His personal characteristics, dedication, commitment and interpersonal skills has allowed him to become a respected and highly effective student in the Sports Medicine program.

Eliran truly loves to help others. He has shown great versatility and patience in dealing with all the issues that arise when working with our student athletes and ACCESS (special needs) students. When working with others, Eliran is encouraging and enthusiastic. He has been very effective with the ACCESS physio and rehab sessions because he could clearly motivate the students with his communication skills. He was always very clear with his instructions. His fellow students truly appreciated Eliran's abilities. Eliran always leads by example and never asks of others what he isn't willing to do himself. He always has a positive impact on whomever he spends time with. He is truly unselfish in the giving of his personal time.

In my twenty eight years of teaching, I have been fortunate enough to have been involved with some pretty special students. In my eyes, Eliran has established himself as the kind of individual that you come across only a few times in your teaching career. Overall, Eliran is a very sincere and personable young man who has shown on numerous occasions that he can be very successful at whatever he does. I do not hesitate to give Eliran my highest recommendation. If you require any further information, please contact me at 403-289-2551, extension 425.

Sincerely,

Kevin Pelehos
